134 ministerial delegates participated in the meeting, presenting reports from their respective governments on water priorities and challenges. Based on the deliberations so far, the participating delegates adopted the ministerial declaration of the 10th World Water Forum.

180 Parliamentarians from 49 countries participated in the 10th World Water Forum parliamentary meeting to discuss water policy and vision that promotes global sustainability and prosperity. The meeting addressed key issues: access to water and sanitation, innovative practices for equitable access, water's role in climate action, and water diplomacy for peace.

The Bandung Spirit Water Summit within the 10th World Water Forum was held to formulate a framework for addressing water issues in the Global South, based on the Bandung Spirit, and to develop a roadmap focusing on the implementation of plans and policies.

The second day of the forum featured intense discussions on its six sub-themes, which will now be developed into concrete call to actions in the upcoming days. Special sessions on the Water, Energy, and Food nexus, as well as the 4th Water Security Seminar, laid the groundwork for advancing the water action agenda.
